ON THE BOARDS Current Waterfront Projects on Maryland's Eastern Shore

Shingle Cottage

Located in a cove near St. Michaels, MD, this new house is being constructed under a mature tree canopy along a protected shoreline. The American Shingle style of the new house – popularized by McKim, Mead and White – is reminiscent of early 20th century family camps. Read more...

Charleston Point Farm

Here, we present the earliest concept sketches and mid-construction photos of an all new house we designed for Charleston Point Farm. Vision, together with rigorous attention throughout production and construction phases, is what allows us to help clients realize a vision of their dream house. Read more...

Weekend Retreat

This project evolved as an appreciation for the lifecycle of a traditional dwelling built by the earliest European settlers of Maryland, expanded by addition over successive generations. In its latest lifecycle stage, urban dwellers renovate the house for weekend use. Read more...
